Senate Passes President's Atomic Measure, 57-28

About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

THISSA AND THATTA: Looks like we got a fellow in town who brought the true spirit of Texas with him.

He's the Rev. Joe Morman, pastor of the First Baptist church of Harrisburg, who was in the Register office a couple of days ago when this department brought in the information that Roy Lane had caught a 45-pound catfish.

The preacher did not look a bit awed—not even a trifle astounded—at the report.

"Why, down in Texas where I came from they use that size fish for bait," he stated calmly.

Who's got the soap; we have a mouth we want to wash out.

And speaking of big catfish, I noted a familiar face in a group of three in a picture the Southern Illinoisan of Carbondale carried this week. Looking closely, I saw it was Circuit Judge Clarence E. Wright of that city, who presides on the bench here quite often.

The other two faces were his two cousins, Mayor John Wright and Dr. C. L. Wright. They were all holding up a 50-pound catfish caught in the Big Muddy river Sunday.

The accompanying story said that the big fish was hooked by C. L. Wright and all three worked to land it.

And speaking of bait, the story declares the trio killed a cottonmouth snake and was using its meat for bait when the big fish struck.

WATER SHORTAGE ITEM: Last Saturday one of the local fire trucks journeyed to Eldorado to help the Eldorado department fight a greenhouse fire that was out of the city limits and away from any water mains and resultant fire-plugs.

The local truck, naturally, took with it a full booster tank of water which was put onto the blaze.

After the fire was out, Eldorado Chief Quentin Wilson, taking cognizance of the water shortage here, invited Harrisburg Chief Ray Johnson to fill up his tank in Eldorado. The invitation was accepted.

PRETTIEST COLORED hibiscus I've seen—a deep red—is in the Maggie Gabel backyard at 505 West Church street.

HUMOR DEPT.: Old Mrs. McCoy was an incurable grumbler. Nothing pleased her. But her pastor heard of her excellent apple crop, and figured that at last he had found one thing about which she could not possibly complain. "Well, Sister McCoy," he exclaimed, "I know you are happy now—I've heard a lot about that fine apple crop of yours."

The old lady glared at him. "Oh, I guess the apples will do," she admitted. "But where's the rotten 'uns for the pigs?"

MORE HUMOR: Two spinsters were talking. One remarked: "Last week I advertised in the paper for a husband."

"You don't mean it!" the other exclaimed. "Get any replies?" "Hundreds of them. And they all were the same. They all said, 'You can have mine.'"

Dr. Steinborn Shows Optical Film, Exhibit at Kiwanis

A film, "To Greater Vision," which showed the importance of optical science to our way of life, was shown to members of the Kiwanis club last night by Dr. A. O. Steinborn at the Masonic temple.

Dr. Steinborn also exhibited chemicals used in the making of crown optical glass and displayed exhibits showing the construction of bifocal lenses. He also displayed the various lenses used to improve vision and described their uses and showed old time glasses dating from the time of Benjamin Franklin.

The film showed the effects greater vision through optical glass has on all industry, such as the use of the microscope in the struggle against disease. It also showed the process of manufacturing optical glass, which began in the United States in 1917, and explained the instruments used in examination of eyes for the selection of proper lenses. Grinding of the lenses for the proper prescription was also shown.

Club members enjoyed the educational film and the display of various lenses and glasses by Dr. Steinborn following the picture.

Guest at last night's meeting was Frank Cookson of Los Angeles, son-in-law of H. C. Lewis.

House Approves Eisenhower Tax Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House approved President Eisenhower's massive tax reform bill today.

Republicans beat a Democratic move to eliminate a provision calling for special tax relief on dividend income.

The roll call vote on passage was 315-77.

The measure, which now goes to the Senate, will save individuals and corporations an estimated $1,363,000,000 in taxes this year.

The bill finally approved by the House is a compromise of previous versions passed by House and Senate—the so-called conference report.

Taxpayers with dividend income will save an estimated 204 million dollars this year and 362 millions in future years when the plan becomes fully effective.

Democrats charged that the dividend tax relief plan would provide a windfall for the rich. But they failed by a roll call vote of 227-169 in their last-ditch attempt to eliminate this provision from the bill.

The motion to knock out the dividend relief provision was made by Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.), senior Democrat on the tax-framing House Ways and Means Committee.

Voting against it were 204 Republicans and 23 Democrats. Voting for it were 165 Democrats, three Republicans and independent Frazier Reams of Ohio.

Under this controversial feature of the bill, a taxpayer would be permitted to deduct the first $50 of dividend income from taxation altogether. He then would be allowed to subtract 4 per cent of the remainder of his dividend income and pay no tax on that.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.), chairman of the ways and means committee, led the opposition to Cooper's motion.

Reed contended that the dividend relief provision would "serve as an immediate stimulant" to the economy.

Cooper argued that it would be better to bolster the economy through general income tax relief for individuals.

The comprehensive tax bill does not provide a general tax cut for either individuals or corporations. But it does contain many features to help selected groups of taxpayers.

Individuals with high medical expenses, retired persons, working widows, widowers and divorced persons with small children to support—these and many other special groups would get special tax consideration.

Receive Graduate Assistantships at SIU

Graduate assistantships for part-time work this summer and for the coming school year at Southern Illinois university have been awarded to 27 students, according to the SIU graduate office.

Assistantships for the period from Sept. 13 to June 11, 1955, include: William L. Herrmann, history; Nancy Yost, Equality, speech; Robert W. Richey, Galathea, government. Miss Yost also received an assistantship for the summer term which ends Aug. 14.

Action Ends Record 13-Day Filibuster

House-Senate Conferees to Work Out Differences

WASHINGTON (AP)—The longest filibuster in history is over. It ended dramatically Tuesday night when the Senate suddenly passed the administration's atomic bill after 13 days of stormy debate.

Both sides claimed at least a partial victory today and all senators breathed a sigh of relief that the grueling all-night sessions were over.

The measure—approved 57 to 28—would let private industry produce atomic power and permit free exchange of atomic information with U. S. Allies. It was altered from its original form by a series of Democratic sponsored amendments which hobbled some of its provisions.

Now Goes To Committee

It now goes to the House, which is expected to send it immediately to a House-Senate conference committee to work out differences between the versions approved by the two houses.

The stubborn struggle between administration forces led by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and the bill's determined foes, mainly Democrats, suddenly collapsed in the early evening and a vote on final passage began at 9:35 p. m. EDT.

Although the long debate had been marked by occasional bitter flareups, the atmosphere was a friendly and forgiving when the final showdown came. The packed galleries joined in the laughter and cheers in an overlooked violation of Senate rules.

Democrat Paul H. Douglas voted against the measure and Republican Everett M. Dirksen voted for it.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), sponsor of the Senate version, said "It's a good bill. The only bad amendment is one which puts the Atomic Energy Commission in the power business."

He referred to a provision to let the AEC generate power on its own and sell any in excess of its own needs.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), one of the band of filibustering opponents that droned on through four round-the-clock meetings over the 13-day period, said the bill is "a defeat for the best of interests of the American people, but in no sense a victory for Mr. Eisenhower administration."

He said several "safeguards" written into the "giveaway" bill "as an outgrowth of the Democratic fight" at least improved it and made it "hardly a victory for Mr. Eisenhower."

Republican Sens. John Sherman Cooper (Ky.) and William Langer (N.D.) and Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind.) joined 25 Democrats in opposing the bill on the final vote.

Many Democrats who fought hard against some of its provisions voted for its final approval.

It was passed by a combination of 44 Republicans and 13 Democrats.

The long-debated measure, passed by the House Monday, permits greater atomic exchange with U. S. Allies and lets American industry produce atomic power.

Debate TVA Contract

But much of the prolonged Senate debate centered around an order by Mr. Eisenhower for the AEC to contract with Dixon-Yates, a private utility group, to produce power for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

After a bitter fight, the upper chamber wrote in specific authority for the disputed contract. But it later adopted an amendment by Sen. Albert M. Gore (D-Tenn.) to prevent the federal government from exempting any corporation under such a contract from paying federal income taxes.

The bill's filibustering foes regarded that as a major victory. They also defeated the administration in winning adoption of an amendment by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) to permit the AEC to produce power itself. Another victory came when they wrote in a "preference" clause to give rural electric cooperatives and public-owned power companies first crack at AEC-produced power.

When the Senate finally recessed at 9:57 p. m. EDT Tuesday night, it had spent 180 hours and 50 minutes in consideration of the atomic bill. The debate began July 13.

Group Leaders Hear Discussion On Soil Fertility

Group leaders of the Saline County Soil Conservation district last night heard Dr. Ed Tynor, professor of agronomy at the University of Illinois, speak on maintenance of soil fertility.

The approximately 40 neighborhood leaders present will take the information learned back to their groups for discussion.

The meeting was held at the Saline county fairgrounds and was preceded by a basket dinner. The affair was presided over by Alvah A. Gholson, chairman of the board of directors of the Saline County Soil Conservation district, and assisting him was Thomas Morgan, the district's conservationist. Also present at the meeting was Harry Gearhart, Mt. Vernon, head of the Soil Conservation program over a number of counties, and Mrs. Gearhart. They formerly lived in Harrisburg.

Dr. Tynor gave a highly technical, informative discussion on how to restore fertility to depleted soil. He first pointed out the amount of nitrogen, phosphate and potash that is contained in alfalfa hay, corn, wheat, soybeans and clover and worked out rotation charts for the leaders present. He figured out the depletion of the three materials from the soil, from the crops and charted how much of each had to be restored to maintain proper fertility.

Annual County 4-H Dress Revue Friday Night

The annual county 4-H dress revue will be held Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium of the Junior high school. From this group of girls state fair winners will be selected.

Saline county is entitled to send two garments for construction and eight girls for activities, three of whom will appear in the public dress revue at the state fair on August 15 at 3 p. m. Winners will be announced that night.

Following the revue Friday evening the girls will model in formal and a county candidate for the "Queen of the Furrow" contest will be selected. This beauty contest is in connection with the National Plowing contest and Soil Conservation Field Day. The rural Home Bureau units and 4-H clubs are working together in finding girls eligible to enter this contest.

The winner of Friday evening's contest will enter the district contest in Gallatin county to be held the latter part of August.

The district winner will compete in the national contest held this year in Olney on Sept. 17.

The "Queen of the Furrow" will grace and reign over the Plowman's banquet to be held on the same evening as a part of the National Plowing contest and Soil Conservation Field Day program.

Typhoid Outbreak Hits Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The city health department sought anxiously today to prevent further spread of an outbreak of typhoid fever which left an 11-year-old boy dead, seven persons ill and 200 persons possible victims.

Health officials feared the outbreak may be the largest in Los Angeles in recent history.

They said they were trying to locate some 200 guests who were exposed to the highly contagious fever at a wedding reception Sunday. The reception resulted in the death of young Tim Nahn and hospitalization to seven persons.

adviser, estimated there will be between 50 and 60 livestock projects on exhibit that day along with other projects in vegetables and garden displays, home beautification and poultry.

There will be prizes given following judging of the 4-H projects Tuesday morning and the livestock exhibits also will be eligible for the regular junior livestock show held as part of the fair with $1,590 in premiums offered. The junior livestock show is open to any boy or girl under 21 years of age residing in Saline county.

Four-H club entries should be taken to the fairgrounds Monday afternoon to be ready for the show Tuesday morning.

A meeting was held at the Harrisburg city hall Monday night, attended by 63 4-H club leaders and members, and arrangements were made for the Tuesday 4-H events. Besides the exhibits it was decided to have a tractor-driving contest for older 4-H boys in front of the grandstand.

It was voted not to have a 4-H refreshment stand at the fair this year because of lack of program activity during the daytime that would draw the larger crowds to the fairgrounds.

The junior livestock department of the fair, of which Paul Halberstien is superintendent, will offer the $1,590 as follows:

Premiums of $14 for first, $13 for second, $12 for third and $10 for fourth places in each of the following cattle classes: Herefords, Aberdeen Angus, Shorthorns, Jerseys, Brown Swisses, Guernseys, and Holsteins.

Premiums of $9 for first, $8 for second, $7 for third and $6 for fourth in the following swine classes: Berkshires, Chester White or O. I. C., Duroc Jersey, Hampshire, Black Poland China and Spotted Poland China.

He said at today's news conference that his decision was not sacrosanct or forever true. And should the situation change, he said, he could always instruct the Tariff Commission to reopen the case in the light of new developments.

Leaders of the U. S. watch industry were jubilant over the President's action. But free traders and the Swiss government registered strong protests.

The President late Tuesday ordered duties on all Swiss watch movements of no more than 17 jewels hiked as much as 50 per cent. He said he did so to prevent "serious injury" to the U. S. industry which, he said, must be preserved for national defense.

The increases, which went into effect today, range from 9 cents to $1.15 a movement. The total duty on a single movement is now as high as 2.50. How much of the increase will be added to the retail prices of Swiss watches was uncertain.

The action was the most important the President has taken in the tariff field since he entered the White House and there were immediate charges that it marked a sharp swing toward a protectionist trade policy.

Auto-Truck Collide

An auto driven by C. B. Barton of Harrisburg and a CIPS truck driven by W. E. Musgrove figured in a collision at Logan and Cherry streets yesterday, it was reported to city police. The report said that Anna Wenzel of Harrisburg, in the auto with Barton, sustained a bump on her forehead and a knee injury.

Bank Receives $211,912 in Lake Bond Funds

The Harrisburg National bank this morning received the bond issue money for the construction of Lake Harrisburg.

Although the bond issue was for $200,000, the money totals $211,912.20, the $11,912.20 represents interest that accrued from the date of the issue which must be returned in the form of interest on bond retirement, plus the premium offered to the city for the issue by the Barcus-Kindred Co. of Chicago.

First money will be used to pay off the owners of land needed for the lake project. D. F. Runsey, bond attorney, said today that if the owners will bring the deeds to his office, he would go with them to the bank to get the money due them.

Eisenhower Hikes Tariffs on Swiss Watches

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower defended his stiff tariff increase on imported watches today with the assertion that it was a specialized instance which did not violate his basic belief that foreign trade should be free.

The President said his order increasing the duty on certain types of imported watches as much as 50 per cent was based on two considerations—protection of American industry and, from the defense standpoint, preservation of certain high skills.

He said at today's news conference that his decision was not sacrosanct or forever true. And should the situation change, he said, he could always instruct the Tariff Commission to reopen the case in the light of new developments.

Report Five More Fraudulent Checks

Five more checks which are attributed to Anna Crawford and Mary Block of Ashmore Route 2 in Coles county have been reported to Sheriff Paul Spangler.

The two women are held in the Saline county jail on charges of writing fraudulent checks.

Two of the latest were written in Saline county, three at Carmi. Checks were given to the Hart department store in Harrisburg and the NuWay Mercantile Co. in Eldorado in addition to four others written in this county previously reported.

Three others were written in Carmi.

Injured When Auto Overtakes

Jane Latham of Johnston City suffered cuts and bruises at 11:45 a. m. yesterday when the car in which she was riding, driven by Jackie D. Hancock, turned over on Route 1 a mile south of Route 13 in Gallatin county.

State Policeman Michael Taggart said that a gasoline truck had stopped at the L. & N. railroad crossing at that point, as required by law, and that Hancock, behind the truck, swerved to avoid hitting the machine, the auto overturning. He was fined for reckless driving in justice of the peace court at Equality.

Rhee Proposes Korea Buildup in Congress Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Syngman Rhee told a joint session of Congress today the Korean armistice should be declared dead, and a buildup started for a "counterattack" on North Korea and Red China.

The 79-year-old South Korean leader, in a speech bristling with defiance of the Communists, appealed for U. S. air and naval support of the South Korean army in the proposed "counterattack" against the Reds.

He did not say he was proposing immediate resumption of all-out war in his ravaged land. He seemed to imply a course to be followed when the anti-Communist forces are ready.

He conceded that Russia "perhaps" would "launch its own ground forces into the battle for China, and its air force as well" if his advice were followed.

Rhee Sees Advantage

"But that would be excellent for the Free World, since it would justify the destruction of the Soviet centers of production by the American air force before the Soviet hydrogen bombs had been produced in quantity," Rhee said.

Rhee, who has been criticized in Congress as a "stubborn old man" and praised as "the greatest patriot in Asia," arrived here Monday for a state visit at the invitation of President Eisenhower.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference today that the talks with Rhee were following two main channels—military and economic. But he gave no details of the talks.

Rhee asked the Congress to provide U. S. aid to double the present Republic of Korea army force of 20 divisions, and "air and sea

Rejects Charge Planes Over China Territory

Expects Carriers To Leave South China Sea Area Shortly

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, voicing deep concern over Red China's attacks on Allied planes, declared today that the United States will defend itself wherever necessary.

But the President also told a news conference he expects that the American carriers that have been patrolling off the coast of Hainan Island in the South China Sea would be leaving the area shortly.

He flatly rejected Red China's charges that American planes, which shot down two Communist attacking planes, were over Chinese territory.

We are perfectly certain our planes were where they were supposed to be, the President said.

The President was asked to comment on the Chinese Communist destruction of a British airliner last Friday with the loss of three American lives, and the subsequent incident when the Communist planes were shot down. A reporter said "some Allies" believe the incident was badly handled by the United States "and might touch off a war."

Will Defend American Interests

Mr. Eisenhower said incidents of this kind cause deep concern and deep study. But he said the United States was not in the area to provoke any incidents, but to defend American interests.

The President said he had noticed a report that there was some anxiety in Paris that the United States had acted in an impulsive and truculent manner when the British airliner was downed.

The President said he does not intend for the United States to be either impulsive or truculent, but we do intend to defend ourselves.

Then the President said our people will defend themselves wherever necessary.

The President said the task force off Hainan had orders to stay in the area of the lost British plane as long as there was any hope of finding survivors. He said he expected that period was at an end and the carriers, the Philippine Sea and Hornet, would be leaving the area shortly. He said the orders, however, were up to the judgment of the officers in charge of the over-all operation.

The President pointed out that the Chinese Communists had reacted differently to the British than to the United States.

When the British airliner was shot down, the Chinese Communists apologized to the British at once. But when the United States became involved he said the Reds acted differently.

Trying to Split Allies

While the different attitudes are difficult to assess, the President said they at least follow the regular Communist plan of trying to separate the Western Allies and attempting to split them apart.

Other administration officers had said earlier that U. S. Navy carriers and planes would be kept in the South China Sea "as long as necessary" despite a warning from Red China to get out or "suffer the consequences."

Coffee Prices Dip Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—Coffee prices took a little dip today.

Effective immediately, several leading roasters announced reductions of five cents a pound at the wholesale level.

The action marked the first cut since the destructive frosts hit the Brazilian crop a year ago.

Dealers thought the reductions would be passed on to the consumer immediately.

Schönbrun & Co., until further notice, cut the price on its Savarin brand a nickel a pound.

Similar reductions were made by General Foods Corp. and Standard Brands Inc. for a 30-day period. Other roasters are expected to meet the competition in a few days, trade sources said.

Friendly Memories

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
For most of the 20th century,
the people of the United States and the people of China were good friends.

But in a few short years the Chinese Communists have striven mightily to destroy that comrad-ship, and even to wipe out the memory of it among China's populace.

This sad fact was well remarked in an interesting recent dispatch
by Peter Lisagor, Washington diplomatic correspondent for the Knight news papers. He observed that the "American investment in good works in China in this century has been incalculable." Yet the Reds have set about systematically splashing black on this heretofore bright page.

This they do, of course, with their celebrated propaganda and brain-washing tactics. It is not easy to rub out friendly memories, especially among the older Chinese folk. But the Reds practice their techniques viciously and relentlessly.

In time, the fine understanding built up between Americans and Chinese will be a thing remembered
only in America, and, ironically,
by some of the very Chinese leaders who are busy obliterating
it. For many of these gained their training at a U. S.-established university in Peiping.

We can only be thankful that the moment of full and final re-pentfulness has not yet come. Today, despite all the devices of the Communist besmirchers, we can be sure that millions of Chinese still recall us fondly, and would likely say so if they could.

The fact that 14,000 Red Chinese prisoners of the UN refused to return to China after the Korean war is important demonstration that recollections of free America and other free lands still are not wholly poisoned.

Unhappily, there is no early hope that the Communist regime will fall. So the damage may be quite complete long before we can do anything toward renewing relations with the Chinese people on anything like the old footing.

In the meantime, we must hope that the American information program is developing and maintaining ways of reminding the older Chinese and telling the younger folk how it used to be.

Strategic and commercial considerations may have been elements in our gestures toward the Chinese, but that does not alter
the good we did, nor mar the friendship that grew from our deeds.

From the time of the first missionaries to China, we began giving not only spiritual but cultural and political help as well as the development of a modern, free educated China.

So long as there is a future, we must not cease telling this story as best we can to the ordinary Chinese. For, even in the blackest days, parts of this tale of friendship may linger in nooks and crannies, to help some time in stirring a new birth among the Chinese people.

Untimely End

The death of former Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan came as a shock to public figures and his fellow newsmen alike.

For 16 years this vigorous, husky man charged about Washington digging up news and dipping into a dozen activities at a time.
He was a real workhorse.

When the late Senator Vandenberg died in 1951, Governor Williams of Michigan picked his energetic friend Moody to succeed him. Up to then few men really knew Moody's Democratic leanings.

As a senator for a year and a half Moody was no less active than before. He felt a solemn duty to translate into law every positive suggestion he'd ever made for government while reporting.
He pursued his new task with conscience and purpose.

In 1952 he was beaten at the polls by Senator Potter but the margin was fairly narrow. This year he was preparing for another go at the Senate when severe illness suddenly struck him down at the full tide of his life.

The country can do with more men who tackle their jobs so

"Your 'Ike' Button? You Threw It Away Two Years Ago"

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Governor Shivers Faces Hard
Texas Race; Once Considered Unbeatable, Shivers
Suffered From Quickie Land Deal; Texans Don't Like Insurance Scandals.

WASHINGTON. — A year and six months ago the most dashing, debonair governor to come to Washington for the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower was Allan
Shivers of Texas. Shivers, a Democrat, had helped induce the vast domain of Texas to go Republican for only the second time in his history, so he was entitled to a season of honor as his candidate took oath of office.

In contrast, Shivers faces the fight of his life to get renominated in a run-off August 10—which in Texas means re-elected—for the fourth term.

Several things have cropped up to plague the handsome, svelte
young governor at whose palatial home, "Sharyland," Eisenhower was a special guest on his trip to Mexico last year. One was the natural aversion of Texans to elect a governor to run for four terms.

Another was segregation. This backfired against Shivers in a peculiar way.

In the first place, his friend Ike backed up the Supreme Court after it abolished segregation in the schools. To offset this, Allan began making strong statements for segregation and against the Supreme Court decision.

But then it leaked out that the governor's eldest son had been attending one of the few non-segregated schools in Texas. His children being brought up in the Catholic faith, his son, John Shary, has been attending St. Edward's parochial school in Austin which has been non-segregated for over a year.

QUICKIE LAND DEAL

Another thing that hurt the governor was revelation that he had made a profit of $425,000 on a quickie land deal. Although reported by this newsmen in October 1952, the big-city Texas newspaper conveniently ignored the court record of Hidalgo county until this spring when Shivers' opponent, Ralph Yarborough, forced attention on the amazing court record, which had lain, privileged and quotable, but gathering dust for nearly two years.

The record showed that Lloyd
M. Bentsen, father of the Texas congressman by that name, had given Shivers, then lieutenant governor, an option on 13,000 acres of highly speculative land in the Rio Grande valley for only $25,000.

Then, six months later, Bentsen had arranged for the repurchase of the option for $450,000.

Bentsen waited seven months before arranging to buy back the option, thus permitting the lieutenant governor to pay only a capital-gains tax on his juicy $425,000 profit. What the lieutenant governor of Texas did in return for this $425,000 handed him on a silver platter was not revealed in the court depositions and has never been explained. But the Bentsens were then anxious to obtain precious water and irrigation rights
in order to seal a big development scheme.

What the deal amounted to was a $425,000 windfall to a very important Texas official, and the voters of Texas, not easily fooled, don't seem to like it.

INSURANCE SCANDALS
Another sour development in the Texas political picture was the disclosure that Shivers' former campaign manager, John Van Cronk-
hite, had received $1,000 a month from a discredited insurance company which should have been put out of business by the Texas Insurance Commission, but which was temporarily kept in business
thanks to Van Cronkhite's influence.

Significantly, Van Cronkhite was hired on the recommendation of the governor as $8,400-a-year executive secretary of the Good Neighbor Commission, but found it more profitable to resign in 1951

and set up his own public-relations firm.

It was this firm which handled public relations for "Democrats for Eisenhower" in 1952, again thanks to Shivers' influence.

And this was the firm to which Lloyd's of North America paid $1-000 a month, after an introduction by Shivers' executive secretary, when the insurance company wanted to prevent a crackdown by the Texas Insurance Commission.

What some of the Texas voters
now remember is the governor's 1950 campaign, was appointed by

The Good Neighbor club met at Karel park recently. The group was called to order by the president, and Mrs. John C. Small led in prayer. Several games were played and Sunshine gifts exchanged. Refreshments of cold drinks and cookies were enjoyed. The club voted to omit the August meeting because of the vacation month. The September meeting will be with Mrs. Flossie Land.

James Patterson and family of Kankakee spent several days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patterson. They expect to finish their vacation with relatives in Missouri.

Reunion time is here again. The following reunions will convene in August: Goliher reunion will be held Aug. 1 at Karel park; Baker reunion will be at Mt. O'Miah church on Aug. 8. Mrs. Paul Showalter is president. The Riegel reunion will be at Mt. Moriah
Aug. 15. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Daran of Murray, Ky., will be host and hostess. Paul R. Droit is president. The Ohio Riegel reunion will be Aug. 1. Mrs. Charles Blass, a member of the hostess committee, urges that the Illinois

speeches during the 1952 election campaign, especially his statement on Oct. 29, 1952:

"Instead of the American eagle
as our emblem, we have the fur-bearing mink, the deep freeze and the red herring."

TIDELANDS AIL BACKFIRES
Final factor that has hurt Shivers is a ruling by the Justice Department that Texas does not get 10 1/2 miles of Tidelands oil as she claimed and expected, but only three miles—the same as other coastal states.

Last week Sen. Price Daniel frantically scurried down to the White House on the pretense of making like an honorary "son of the Republic of Texas," but actually to get him to say Texas was entitled to 10 1/2 miles. Ike obeyed. But his Justice and Interior departments did not back him up. They stuck with Thomas Jefferson and the founding fathers who always refused to recognize the Spanish claim of a boundary extending 10 1/2 miles out to sea which Texas inherited and now says is valid.

Despite Texas claims, and despite Senator Daniel's call on Ike,
the Interior department announced that it would have to abide by the Justice Department ruling. The Interior department statement was published alongside a speech made the night before by Governor Shivers, saying that "nobody except Yarborough" says we don't own 10 1/2 miles. To have an official statement by his friends in the Eisenhower administration refute his speech the same day, didn't help Allan a bit.

Riegel families attend. Robert Riegel is president.

Mary Ann and Penelope Ingram

of the John Winters family.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rawlins of Pontiac, Mich., and John Gable of Clarendon Hills were Sunday guests of Mrs. Rhoda Gable and daughters, Amy and Maggie. They all visited Norman Garrett and family Sunday afternoon. Mrs.
Rawlins is the former Ollie Gar-

Thursday. The baby was released from the hospital Sunday afternoon.

Miss Betty McClerren and Roger N. Small Exchange Vows at Raleigh Church

On July 25, at 3 p. m. in the Raleigh Methodist church, Miss Betty McClerren, daughter of Mrs. Nola I. McClerren of Raleigh, and the late Leoman McClerren, became the bride of Roger N. Small, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Small of Nashville, Ill.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Harvey Kimmel of Thompsonville, uncle of the bride. The couple accepted their vows before an altar decorated with palms, gladioli, and candelabra.

Frankie Lee and Jimmy Williams of Hutsonville, nephews of the bride, lighted the candles, after which Miss Shirley Koelling, Hoyleton, played a medley of wedding music. She accompanied Miss Hazel Haun, Nashville, as she sang "I Love Thee," "If I Could Tell You," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Carl S. McClerren, of Thompsonville, was gown in white organdy and lace. The fitted bodice featured a lace yoke and traditionally tight fitting sleeves, which came to a point at the wrists. Tiny lace covered buttons terminated in the bodice back above three bouffant tiers of organdy with a full lace inset which formed a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil was caught by a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli and stephanotis.

For her matron of honor, she chose her sister, Mrs. Elmer Maurer, (Leone McClerren) of West Frankfort. Her dress was of pale blue organdy with a yoke and puff sleeves of blue eyelet. It, too, was fashioned with a tightly fitted bodice and three tiered gathered skirt. She wore a pale blue veil and carried a bouquet of pink daisies.

Bridemaids were Misses Virginia and Peggy McClerren, Thompsonville, nieces of the bride. Their gowns were identical to the matron of honor's except for the color which was pale pink. Their face veils were of pink net and they carried bouquets of blue daisies.

For his best man, the bridegroom chose Bob Kimpling of Ferguson, Mo. Ushers were Elmer Maurer of West Frankfort and Oliver Finke of Nashville.

Mrs. McClerren chose a biege linen dress with which she wore brown accessories. Her flowers were pink gladioli.

Mrs. Small wore a navy blue lace dress accented by white accessories. Her flowers were also pink gladioli.

Presiding at the reception table were Mrs. James Parker Jr., Marion, former roommate of the bride, and Mrs. Oliver Finke of Nashville.

The bride received her Bachelor of Science degree in Education at Southern Illinois university where she was a member of Kappa Omicron Phi, honorary home economics fraternity. She received a Master of Education degree from the University of Illinois and is at present employed at the Nashville Community high school.

The bridegroom graduated from the Nashville Community high school in 1949, and is associated with his father in The Shoe Mart, located at Nashville.

After a week's wedding trip in Wisconsin, the couple will reside in Nashville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Burke from Murphysboro, former residents of Harrisburg, spent the day yesterday with Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Whitely.

The 71st annual picnic and basket dinner by Modern Woodmen will be held at Ferne Clyffe State park at Goreville Sunday, Aug. 1, beginning at 10 a. m. There will be entertainment throughout the day and contests for local amateur musicians with prizes for the best acts. The public is invited.

The Town and Country Home Bureau unit will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. Lodema Sisk, RFD 2, Harrisburg.

The official visit of the supreme worthy high priestess of the White Shrine of Jerusalem will be made tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the lodge room in the Elks home. Mrs. Juanita Mauss will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be served at 6:30 in the dining room of the Masonic temple. All officers and members of Egyptian Shrine No. 56 with members of neighboring shrines are expected to attend.

The Mt. Pleasant Baptist Sunday school will have its annual picnic Friday, July 30, at the Baptist camp site. A bus will leave the church at 9 a. m.

Two Officials Indicted for Labor Racketeering

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted union officials Harry Meisenhelter, Decatur, and Virgil Floyd, Joliet, on charges of labor racketeering.

They were charged with shaking down two pipeline building contractors for a total of $5,950 by threatening strikes, slowdowns and other damaging tactics against the contractors.

The indictments brought to six the number of labor leaders indicted by the grand jury, which took up the investigation of alleged labor racketeering June 15.

U. S. Dist. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. said the jury would return still more indictments against Illinois labor leaders after it reconvenes Aug. 12.

Others indicted previously were Edward Pavlat, Wataga; William R. Watkins, Jacksonville; Guy Harmon, Peoria, and Edwin H. Snyder, Quincy.

Employer of Murder Suspect is Cleared of Complicity

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Albert Cohen, 37, East St. Louis, Ill., businessman, was cleared of complicity and released today in the hotel dresser drawer slaying of an 18-year-old girl.

Victor H. Lively, 25, Beaumont, Tex., confessed the slaying of Dorothy Moore last Friday and subsequently implicated Cohen, his employer of three weeks as a roofing salesman.

Cohen denied the charges, but was arrested on a warrant as an accessory after the fact of murder. He waived extradition to Indianapolis and took a lie detector test which showed he had no knowledge of the slaying. Lively then said he falsely implicated Cohen.

The charge was dismissed in Municipal Court by Judge John Barton. Cohen was arraigned on a charge of speeding and failure to appear for a hearing on the traffic count. He was fined $37.

Investigation had shown Cohen was in East St. Louis on the day before and the day of the killing.

Creal Springs Woman Dies

Mrs. Emma Benson, 76, Creal Springs, died yesterday morning in the Marion Memorial hospital.

The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the home of a nephew, Walter Taylor, in Creal Springs. Rev. Glen Berg will officiate, and burial will be in the Vienna Fraternal cemetery. The Robertson funeral home in Vienna will be in charge.

KNOW YOUR FORMER NEIGHBOR: Virginia Gregg del Valle, Niece of T. D. Gregg, Stars in Radio, TV Shows

Mrs. Virginia Gregg del Valle

How many viewers who watched "Badge 714" over WSIL-TV last Friday evening knew that one of the principal characters was born and spent the early years of her life in Harrisburg?

She is Virginia Gregg del Valle who took the part of Iris Adams, the housewife questioned by Sergeant Joe Friday after she turned in a stolen car report to the police. Mrs. del Valle was born on March 6, 1916, in Harrisburg to the late Dewey Todd and Edward Gregg, youngest brother of Thomas D. Gregg, optometrist in Harrisburg.

Mr. Gregg visited in Los Angeles, Calif., where his niece makes her home, during the month of June, and while there he saw the rehearsals for "Dragnet," Stars Over Hollywood. Yours Truly Johnny Dollar and several movie scenes. Among the stars he met was Jack Webb, star and director of "Dragnet" whom he described as a "very nice fellow."

When Virginia was five years of age her parents moved to California where she attended the Washington Junior high school, Pasadena junior college and the Pacific Academy of Dramatic Art.

In her high school years she received awards in music and dramatics, in which she excelled, and frequently engaged in a radio play. Her first radio work, however, was music. She played a bass violin in a sextette called the "Singing Strings."

On October 15, 1947, in Las Vegas, Nev., she married Jaime del Valle, a Spaniard whose parents were the descendants of one of California's oldest families. He is a radio and television director and producer. They have three children, Gregg, five years, Jaime, three years, and Ricardo, one year.

In theatre work she goes by her maiden name, Virginia Gregg. Her Ass'n for Mentally Retarded Children To Show Film Aug. 3

The Saline County Association for Mentally Retarded Children met last evening at the Dorrisville grade school.

During the business session announcement was made that the film, "Children Limited," would be shown on August 3 at 7:30 p. m. at the McKinley school. This film is also sponsored by the association. The public is invited and there is no admission fee.

The group is having a bake sale Saturday morning, August 7. The place will be announced later.

Chicago Policewoman Named Superintendent Of Dwight Reformatory

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Isabelle Biedermann, chief of Chicago policewomen for eight years, is the new superintendent of the Illinois reformatory for women at Dwight.

State Public Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb announced Tuesday he was naming Mrs. Biedermann to the $8,100 a year job to succeed Mrs. Mary Powers, who resigned recently because of poor health.

Mrs. Biedermann, 44, has been an employee of the Chicago police department since 1937 and has headed the department's women's division since February, 1947.

She is a graduate of Northwestern University, where she majored in psychology and sociology, and took post-graduate work at the University of Chicago. She has lectured on penology and criminology at Northwestern.

Mrs. Biedermann's husband, Geo. J., is a retired Chicago juvenile officer.

Peiping Paper Says U. S. Capitalized On Plane 'Accident'

TOKYO (AP)—The Communist Peiping People's Daily charged today the United States has capitalized on "the accident" in which Chinese planes shot down a British airliner with the loss of 10 lives, to "stir up a storm . . . as a pretext to provoke China."

China's press described the American action in shooting down two attacking Chinese planes as "vicious," "savage," "outrageous," "truculent," "aggressive," "piratical," "lawless," "frantic" and "despicable."

Paris Requests
State of Emergency
In Water Shortage

SPRINGFIELD 4P—A request that Paris be declared in a state of emergency due to a water shortage arrived today at the office of Gov. William G. Stratton.

City Clerk F. L. McCord forwarded a copy of a resolution adopted by the Paris city commissioners requesting Stratton to take action to designate the city in an emergency.

Such a declaration would enable the city to borrow money from the federal Civil Defense Administration, to bring in more water.

Stratton's office said the request would be turned over to state sanitary engineers for investigation before any action is taken.

Paris was among 20 towns in the southern half of Illinois listed by Chief State Sanitary Engineer C. W. Klassen Tuesday as suffering from "critical or near critical" water shortage.

Sparta, Benton, Olney, Lovington and Mount Sterling all have got civil defense pipe to tap additional water sources and relieve shortages.

Two Former
Convicts Sought
For Bank Robbery

PEVELY, Mo. 4P—Two former convicts were sought by state and federal authorities today for questioning in the $40,174 robbery of the Bank of Pevely Tuesday.

The men, southeast Missouri residents recently released from the Missouri Penitentiary, were seen with a third man on a gravel road where the robbers' getaway car was abandoned.

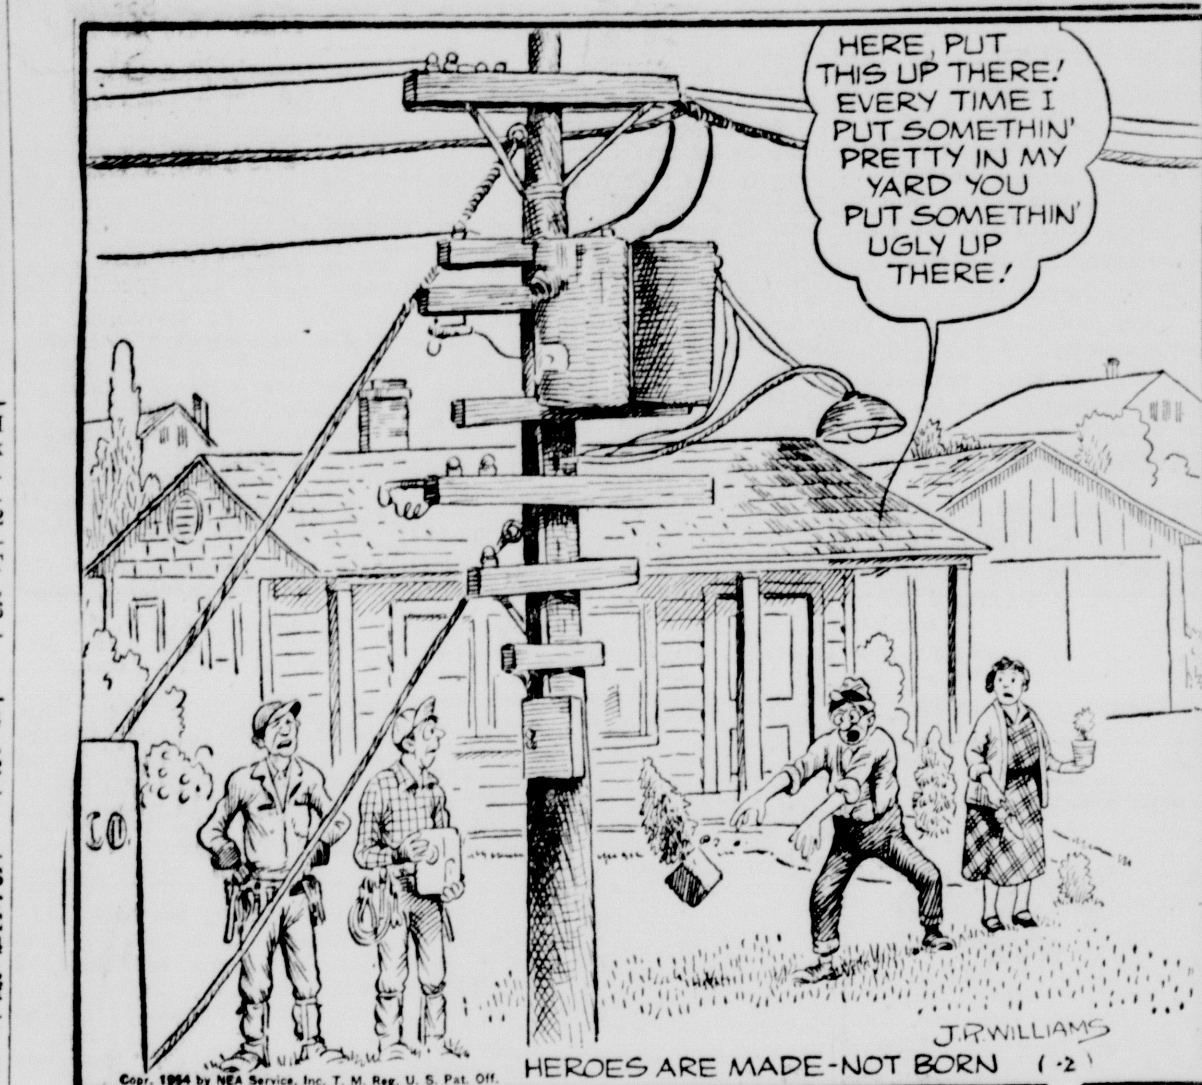

Blue coveralls similar to those worn by the holdup men were found discarded in the bushes near the car, which was stolen in St. Louis Monday night.

Police believe the robbers used a second car, a Cadillac, to evade road blocks set up in the area.

Bank officials said the money taken by the holdup men was all the bank possessed to the last cent. They arranged with a St. Louis bank to send cash so they could reopen today.

Eisenhower Discloses Yardstick for GOP Congressmen to Receive Support

WASHINGTON 4P—President Eisenhower disclosed today his yardstick for measuring which Republican congressional candidates will receive his support.

He said generally he will back any candidate who supported the important, basic provisions of his program in Congress even though the support was not 100 per cent on all legislation.

Mr. Eisenhower also revealed at his news conference that he checks the voting records before posing for pre-campaign photographs with members of Congress. So far, he said, he personally has not refused down a picture request, he added, he was unaware of it.

The President reiterated that he would not go into different congressional districts this fall stumping for particular candidates.

Rather, he said he will travel and speak at length in behalf of his program. If he happens to be in an area where a Republican candidate has supported his program, the chief executive said, he would be glad to have this supporter with him.

For some weeks, the President has been posing for photographs with GOP House members who come to the White House in groups of about a dozen to have individual pictures made with Mr. Eisenhower.

As for posing for pictures with congressmen, Mr. Eisenhower said actually he feels it is a compliment when a congressman requests a photograph. He said it means at least that the lawmaker is not fighting him.

Indochina Refugees
Report Red Brutality

HANOI, Indochina 4P—Red brutality was reported today by refugees reaching Hanoi from areas of Indochina occupied by the Communist Viet Minh since the Geneva truce was signed. Frightened by these reports, thousands of additional refugees poured out of Hanoi in the rush to escape the area before it, too, falls into Communist hands under the terms of the truce.

Corporal Sentenced
In Germany for Selling
Gas on Black Market

VAIHINGEN, Germany 4P—A U. S. Army corporal today started serving two years at hard labor ordered by a 7th Army general court martial for selling gasoline on the black market.

Cpl. Robert W. Nettles, of Farmington, Ill., was sentenced Tuesday and ordered dishonorably discharged. Six German employees of the Robinson Barracks army service station were fired and turned over to German authorities for possible prosecution.

The Army charged Nettles bought gas from the military station without military purchase coupons and then resold it to German taxi drivers and motorists.

Sens. McClellan And Ellender Win Renomination

By United Press

Two veteran senators and a rancher whose anti-Eisenhower postcards were banned from the mails as obscene won apparent victories in Tuesday's Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma primaries.

Sen. John L. McClellan came up fast in the last hours to avert a runoff with onetime "boy wonder" Sid McMath in the Arkansas senatorial race.

In Louisiana Sen. Allen J. Ellender, running with the backing of the powerful Long family, picked up strength in the rural parishes to pull away from Democratic National Committeeman Frank B. Ellis.

A rancher whose legal name is Cowboy Pink Williams pulled the only major upset by whipping James E. Berry, Oklahoma's lieutenant governor since 1935.

Williams was a political unknown until he sent out a batch of post cards inviting Oklahoma cattlemen who had voted for President Eisenhower to a public "kicking."

The Post Office Department labeled the post cards "obscene" and ordered Williams' mail impounded. He had sent out the cards to protest federal cattle policies.

The Democratic nomination in all three cases virtually assured election in November.

In other races: 1. Raymond Gary, 14-year veteran of the state Legislature, won the Oklahoma Democratic nomination for governor over attorney William O. Coe. Oklahoma has never had a GOP governor.

2. Arkansas Gov. Francis Cherry was forced into a runoff Aug. 16 by the surprising showing of Orval Faubus, a weekly newspaper publisher.

3. Attorney Fred Mock led publisher Raymond Fields in the Republican race to decide who will oppose Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D Okla.) in November.

Heat Wave Again Sears Midwest

By United Press

A marathon heat wave burned with renewed fierceness in the nation's midsection today, claiming new acres of seared crops.

The baking heat moved out of its Southwest stronghold Tuesday to scorch the Midwest again.

Farm officials from Illinois to Oklahoma repeated warnings that rain is urgently needed.

The U. S. Weather Bureau offered little hope of relief. An extended forecast covering the next four days predicted temperatures 5 to 10 degrees above normal in the Midwest.

The mercury went over 100 in 23 Texas cities Tuesday, setting all time records of 110 and 109 at Del Rio and Laredo, respectively. Thermal, Calif., became the nation's hottest town with 115.

In Chicago the thermometer registered over 90 for the 10th day this month. The 92 at Los Angeles tied a 68-year-old record.

Weekly federal-state crop bulletins, out Tuesday, showed that last week's showers weren't enough to restore parched crops and depleted livestock.

Iowa needed rain over virtually all portions of the state and the Nebraska corn crop was described as "stunted badly" and burned. The rains came too late to "rescue a considerable fraction" of the Illinois corn crop and water supplies were in "critical or near critical condition" in 20 Illinois towns.

Rhee to Visit Truman Aug. 5

Eisenhower Lists Half Dozen Bills For Action In Legislative Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he would be bitterly disappointed if Congress fails to enact half a dozen bills which have been held up by the Senate filibuster.

He listed: The farm bill, tax revision, anti-Communist control measures, housing, social security, and foreign aid.

He ticked off the list at his news conference when asked whether the end of the filibuster had made any change in prospects for his legislative program.

Remarking with a laugh that he had anticipated such a question, Mr. Eisenhower pulled from his pocket a slip of paper on which he had jotted down six items of pending legislation. He said he considered them the major elements of a program which will strengthen the country at home and make it more secure in the world.

Covering a wide range of foreign and domestic problems, Mr. Eisenhower also told reporters:

Shooting Causes Concern

The shooting between Communist and American planes off the China coast is a cause of deep concern. The United States does not intend to be impulsive or truculent but will defend its rights any place in the world.

He intends to do some travelling during the fall congressional campaign and he hopes his presence in the home districts of congressmen who generally have supported the administration program will be of some help to those congressmen—or at least not damage their election chances.

He believes that an increase in the federal debt limit—now fixed by law at 275 billion dollars—is inescapable. The Senate Finance Committee balked last year at an administration request to boost the limit to 290 billions.

Suez Signing Pleases

He is highly pleased by the newly-signed agreement between Britain and Egypt to end their long squabble over the Suez Canal.

His talks with visiting President Syngman Rhee of South Korea deal with both economic and military problems, but he does not want to discuss the details pending a formal statement when Rhee leaves this week-end.

He opposes any change in the Agriculture Department's present program of supporting dairy prices. Some farm bloc congressmen are trying to push through legislation raising their support level.

He would not say that the administration's farm program, geared to flexibility and generally lower supports, would result in lower food prices. But he does think it would lead to a stabilization of supply and demand factors in farm markets.

He feels that Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) gave a good account of himself in dealing with the Senate's filibuster on the atomic energy bill, and needs no defense from the President.

German Plan Meets Favor

He thoroughly approves a resolution approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee instructing the President to take steps toward West German sovereignty but he can't say at this time exactly how it will be implemented.

In discussing his plans for the coming congressional campaign, Mr. Eisenhower said it isn't essential for a candidate to support everything he proposes in order to get his backing. But there must be agreement on general principles.

A reporter mentioned that Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky voted against the administration on the TVA power contract that was an issue in the atomic energy bill. Mr. Eisenhower said he thinks Cooper is mistaken but the senator had come to him twice to outline his own views on the legal matters involved and he respects Cooper's opinion and did not intend to come out against the senator.

Avoid Atom Conflict

He did not want to take an immediate stand on the conflict between Senate and House atomic energy bills on whether the government should be authorized to produce atomic power as well as private industry.

He noted that all present power development from atomic energy is being done by the government and it is still far too expensive for commercial use. The Senate bill authorizes the government to make and sell atomic power, while the House bill forbids it except as a byproduct of atomic plants.

Mr. Eisenhower said he hadn't analyzed the voting in Saturday's Texas Democratic primary in which Democrats who supported him two years ago ran into trouble. But Gov. Allan Shivers is a friend whom he admires and likes very much, considers a good governor, and whose support in 1952 he appreciated very highly. Shivers was forced into a run-off when his opponents showed surprising strength in the primary.

Area Boys, Girls Take Advantage of SIU Camp Program

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Camping out in tents on the slopes of a Little Grassy lake cove, area boys and girls are taking full advantage of Southern Illinois university's eight-week outdoor recreation program.

Divided into groups of six youngsters to a counselor, nearly 800 children from ages nine to 13 sleep, eat, swim, play and roam the nearby woods learning how to be as resourceful as a young Dan'l Boone.

High school students had their turn at the camp from July 5-9. Now elementary school children are enrolling for one to three weeks of camping from July 12-August 14.

Under the supervision of Cleo Ulm of the SIU physical education department girl campers are setting records in archery, fishing, boating, and crafts that are highly respected by the boy campers who are supervised by James Wilkinson of the men's physical education department.

The camping program is not co-educational except in certain instances where the boys and girls come together for such things as camp movies, trips, and excursions.

Camp director William Freeberg reports a bumper crop of campers this year. Now in its fifth season, the camp is designed primarily to give college students actual experience in camp counseling and camp administration.

Police Seek Girl Missing Since Teen-Age Party

EVANSTON, Ill. — Police searched today for Prudence Platt, 15, attractive daughter of a well-to-do family who has been missing from home since an all-night teen-age party Saturday.

She was believed to be barefoot and penniless.

A lie test Tuesday confirmed the story of William Wennlund, 19, a filling station attendant, who was the last person known to have seen the missing girl. He told police he had dropped her off at a drug store early Monday morning after she had driven with him to return his brother to Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Prudence is the daughter of Henry R. Platt Jr., vice president, secretary and treasurer of the Truax-Truax Coal Co., and former vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co.

Wennlund said he picked up Prudence at the party early Sunday. An Evanston juvenile officer said about 50 or 60 teen-agers attended the party at Skokie Lagoons, west of Geneva, Ill., and that beer was served.

The youth said Prudence had lost her shoes, and asked him to take her home and "hide" her. He said he put her in his car in the garage at the rear of his grandmother's home until he returned that night.

He said she asked to go along with him to Ft. Campbell, Ky., when he returned his brother, Donald, 21, an Army private on leave. They reached the camp before dawn Monday, he said.

Wennlund said on the return trip to Evanston the girl asked to be let out of the car and told him to go on. He said he gave her a quarter to make a telephone call and last saw her at 1:30 p. m. She didn't want to go home, he said.

Prudence is 5 feet, 1 inch tall, weighs 105 pounds, has brown short hair and is deeply tanned.

strength in adequate proportion." Plan Promises No GIs

If this is done, he said, "I can assure you that no American soldier would be required to fight in the Korean theater of action."

"The American air force as well as the navy would be needed to insure the success of the counter-attack on the Red Chinese regime, but, let me repeat, no American foot soldier."

Three said many Americans died in Korea but the battle still is not won and the Communist tyranny holds the initiative throughout the world.

"On the Korean front the guns are silent for the moment, still temporarily by the unwise armistice which the enemy is using to build up his strength."

"Now that the Geneva conference has come to an end with no result, as predicted, it is quite in place to declare the end of the armistice."

The Geneva conference resulted in a truce in Indochina, but failed to convert the Korean truce into a permanent peace settlement.

Scouts at Little Grassy to Receive Observer Corps Indoctrination July 31

On Saturday, July 31, an all day program will be held at the Egyptian Council's Little Grassy Lake Boy Scout camp located southwest of Marion. Prominent members of the Boy Scouts of America, American Legion and the Ground Observer Corps will be present. This is the initial kickoff of a program whereby the Boy Scouts, with particular reference to the Explorer Scouts, will be sponsored in the Ground Observer Corps system by the American Legion Post Boy Scout committeemen. The day's activities will be divided into morning sessions of indoctrination and afternoon sessions involving training and actual participation in GOC methods of observing and reporting aircraft.

This integral program of Ground Observer Corps, Boy Scouts, and American Legion cooperation, is largely due to the efforts of George Sullivan of Grayville. Mr. Sullivan, as Department of Illinois Boy Scout committee chairman and White County Civil Defense director, has had tremendous experience in both the GOC and Boy Scout activities. This cooperative program, based on a plan devised by Commander Tom Keane of the national Boy Scout headquarters, was carried to state and national American Legion headquarters by Mr. Sullivan. As a result, this program has the complete support of the Department of Illinois American Legion commander, Eddy Dreimeyer, who, with members of his staff, will be present at the meeting. National American Legion headquarters will also be represented by James Wilson, National Security committee chairman of that headquarters.

The Ground Observer Corps will be represented by United States Air Force personnel from several different commands. Colonel Broun H. Mayall, director of Civil Air Defense, Air Defense Command, will represent General Benjamin W. Chidlaw, commander, Air Defense Command. From Eastern Air Defense Force will be Colonel T. C. Hollick, director of Civil Air Defense for that organization. Lt. Colonel Hugh D. Dow, director of Civil Air Defense, 30th Air Division (Defense), and Lt. Colonel Donald F. Armstrong, Illinois Ground Observer Corps coordinator, will be present together with officers from the 782nd Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron and the Springfield Filter Center.

During the afternoon, jet aircraft from the 170th Fighter Squadron, Illinois Air National Guard, will have a fly-by. Aircraft of Group 12, Illinois Civil Air Patrol, commanded by Major Jeter, with headquarters in Marion, will also take part in the exercise.

During the program, a United States flag of historical significance will be presented to the Little Grassy Lake Scout camp as part of the ceremonies.

Boy Scout troops from Marion, McLeansboro, Carrier Mills, Vienna and Rosiclare are currently encamped at Little Grassy and will be present during the program. Also invited are all county civil defense directors and GOC Post supervisors from the surrounding area. Explorer Scouts from the entire Egyptian Council are invited to attend.

Robert Krajci, executive director of the Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts, Herrin, assisted by Robert Tate, field executive, are arranging the day's program at Little Grassy Lake camp.

The widest part of North America is the distance of about 3,000 miles between Labrador and British Columbia.

White Sox Blank Yankees, 4-0; Cardinals Win Cuts Giants' Lead to Two Games

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

It's small consolation for Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees today that he can tell the world, "I told you so."

The experts thought "Old Case" was losing his grip a week ago when he insisted the Chicago White Sox were still in the American league race. The White Sox had just lost three of four games to the Yankees and the experts were writing them out of contention.

But Manager Paul Richards' spirited team proved the experts wrong and Stengel an unhappy prophet when they beat the Yankees, 4-0, Tuesday night, enabling the Cleveland Indians to take a 2-1-2 game lead over the world champions via a 6-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox. The White Sox' victory also moved them within 3-1-2 games of the second-place Yankees.

Trucks Leads Winners

Virgil Trucks became the league's leading winner when he spun a five-hitter to gain his 14th victory of the campaign. It was the third time this season the pudgy fireballer beat the Yankees and the second time he shut them out.

White Sox pitchers now have tossed 16 shutouts compared to the league record of 32 set by the 1906 "Hitless Wonders."

Al Rosen hit his 18th homer and Vic Wertz his fourth to lead the Indians to their 14th victory in 15 meetings with the Red Sox. Bob Lemon survived a grueling ninth inning—in which he retired Ted Williams on a sacrifice fly with the bases filled—to win his 12th game.

Giants Streak Wrong Way
The New York Giants, meanwhile, were still streaking—in the wrong direction—beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-4, after the Brooklyn Dodgers outscrambled the Chicago Cubs, 7-6, in an afternoon game. As a result, the once huge seven-game Giant lead had dwindled to a mere two games in the wake of six consecutive defeats.

Stan Musial's 28th homer and Wally Moon's 10th were the big blows for the Cardinals as relief pitcher Brooks Lawrence won his seventh game since June 24. Center fielder Willie Mays hit his 35th homer to go eight games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace but the blow came in the ninth inning when the Giants were hopelessly behind.

Duke Snider's 25th home run of the campaign was the decisive blow for the Dodgers, who scored their sixth win in seven games since they reached their low point in Chicago on July 20.

Pilette Wins Ninth

Duane Pilette, who has scored all four of Baltimore's victories since July 4, gained his ninth triumph of the season as the Orioles snapped the Washington Senators' six-game winning streak with a 7-5 decision. Pilette yielded homers to Ed Fitz Gerald and Mickey Vernon and needed help from Bob Chakales in the eighth.

Bill Tuttle singled home the winning run in the ninth inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 3-2 win over the Philadelphia Athletics but the A's rebounded to win the nightcap, 8-3, behind Marion Fricano's five-hitter. Steve Gromek won his 12th game for the Tigers in the opener.

Robin Roberts became the majors' first 15-game winner when the Philadelphia Phillies supported his six-hit pitching with an 11-hit attack that produced an 8-2 conquest of the Cincinnati Reds. Danny Schell, Bobby Morgan and Del Ennis hit homers behind Roberts, who has been the winning pitcher in the Phillies' last three victories.

SEMI-PRO BROWN—Dr. Bobby Brown is now playing semi-professional baseball with the Atwater, Calif., Packers. The third baseman left the Yankees for a post with a San Francisco hospital. (NEA)

No Call for Panic About Giants: Stanky

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Stanky, aware that the floundering Giants are suddenly being looked upon as a sinking ship, emphatically declared today "the panic is uncalled for."

Making no secret of how he felt about those who have begun "burying" the Giants simply because their seven-game lead has all but vanished in a week, the fiery Cardinal manager said the league leaders still look in A-1 shape to him.

"They were going at a tremendous pace and they were bound to slow down a bit," Stanky said. "What's the crime in that? Now, I notice a sudden panic in New York. Everyone seems to think they're through."

Stanky scoffed audibly and reached for his shoes in his dressing room locker.

"The Giants," he added, "are a club with fine balance, a great bullpen and a good bench. They have excellent spirit and plenty of power. They also have a lot of experience. What more do they need?"

Asked point-blank whether he'd still feel there was no cause for panic even if the Cardinals won the current series with the Giants, the St. Louis skipper tightened his lips and replied:

"I'd still say the same thing I say now. One game doesn't change a thing. Neither does one series."

Despite his statement, however, Stanky said he was not climbing aboard any Giant pennant band wagon.

"I'm not saying the Giants will win the pennant," he emphasized. "Nor am I saying the Dodgers will. In that respect, I'm not even counting out my own Cardinals. What I'm trying to say is that all this sudden panic over the Giants' 'downfall' is uncalled for."

Comparing the current Giants to the pennant-winning Giants of 1951, a team he played with, Stanky said there wasn't much difference between the two clubs.

"The 1951 Giants had a good bullpen and so has this club," he said. "From what I can see this club also has the necessary winning spirit, so there isn't very much to choose between 'em."

Chick Harbert Wins PGA Crown

ST. PAUL (AP)—Chick Harbert, a long-driving 39-year-old veteran, wore his first national golf crown today.

He won the big 36th annual PGA tournament Tuesday when he overcame a wild start and upset defending champion Walter Burkemo, 4 and 3, in the scheduled 36-hole finals over rolling Keller public course.

"I only hope I can be as great a champion as Walt," he said.

The battle between the two Detroit area pros climaxed the hottest week-long PGA tourney in several years which drew all the big-name golfers except Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum.

It was a great victory worth $2,000 for Harbert, who was beginning to think he was always a bridesmaid but never a bride.

Nine time the Northville Club pro had tried for the PGA crown and in 1947 and 1952 he was runner-up. But this was the first time he ever came through.

Announce Hunting Regulations For Doves, Rails

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department has announced approval of hunting regulations which will apply during the 1954-55 season for the shooting of doves, rails, and gallinules.

The regulations set forth specific dates of the hunting seasons for the states, together with bag and possession limits.

The Fish and Wildlife Service July 12 specified Sept. 1, 1954, and Jan. 10, 1955, as the starting and closing dates within which framework the states were permitted to select the hunting dates most desirable to them.

The new regulation specified hunters may not use salt to entice doves within gunshot range. Last year the use of block salt to lure a bird to within range was permitted.

The service specified these shooting hours: Rails and gallinules: The general shooting hours for these birds shall be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Mourning or turtle doves: Shooting hours in Kentucky shall be from 12 o'clock noon until sunset. In those other states which have a dove shooting season; Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, these birds may be taken from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Daily bag and possession limits and open seasons:

Rails and Gallinules

Mississippi flyway states: Bag limits, 25 sora, 15 all others, singly or in aggregate; possession limits, 25 sora, 15 all others.

Mourning or Turtle Doves

Daily bag and possession limits eight.

Illinois and Missouri, Sept. 1-Oct. 5.

Squirrel Season To Open Sunday

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Squirrel hunting will open in the southern zone of Illinois Sunday, the State Conservation Department reminded hunters today.

The season will run until Oct. 15. Hunting becomes legal in the central zone Sept. 1 and in the northern zone Sept. 15, both seasons lasting until Oct. 31.

The daily bag limit is five and the possession limit after the first day of hunting is 10.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON

Dean Millenbome, ace basketball star at McLeansboro high school the past two years, has received a four-year scholarship at St. Louis university and will enroll in the college of arts and sciences at St. Louis U. in Sept.

Millenbome received recognition this past season on three all-state selections. Playing guard he scored 590 points for a 22.7 average. He shot .524 on field goals and .824 at the free throw line. He was guilty of fouling only 61 times in 26 games.

During the 1952-53 season, as a junior and playing forward, he shot .508 on field goals and .682 on free throws.

He also plays baseball and plans to participate in both sports in the university.

Another local area cager who attracted lots of attention with his outstanding play, Don Hise of Ridgway, has announced his college plans also.

Hise was completed arrangements to attend the University of Illinois out said recently he wasn't including an athletic career in his university plans.

Ron Culbreth, Carrier Mills all-star, was enrolled in a summer term at Southern Illinois university when he suffered an attack of appendicitis and recently underwent emergency surgery. He has been released from the hospital and is up and around, but taking it easy.

He planned to play basketball at Southern, but all plans now hinge on recovery from the operation.

Another member of this past year's Carrier Mills team, Lowell Stricklin, has enrolled in the Marine Corps and as mentioned in this column yesterday, two Eldorado athletes, Ron McRoy and Jackie Reese, are in paratroop training with the U. S. Army.

We believe sports fans are interested in plans of all former athletes in the area and this column will appreciate information regarding plans any of the boys may have. Drop us a card or come to The Register office and tell us about it.

Answers to The Sporting News baseball quiz that appeared in this column Tuesday:

1. Hank Sauer hit two home runs in a game, May 2, May 31, June 5 and July 19. Mays hit his on May 24, June 3, June 21 and July 8. 2. Eddie Mathews hit grand-slamners on June 2 when the Braves lost to the Dodgers, 7 to 6, and June 6 when the Pirates won, 6 to 4. 3. Hank Sauer had 19 homers in 1953—27 up to July 17, 1954. 4. Clint Courtney ninth-hit for Les Moss with a 3-ball one-strike count and was whiffed by Steve Gromek, July 11. 5. Larry Doby hit for the cycle, June 4, 1952. How did you make out in The Sporting News Baseball Quiz?

Bill Hazel Sets Track Record at Cape Girardeau

Bill Hazel, Galatia stock car racer, set a new quarter-mile track record of 16.55 seconds at Cape Girardeau Monday night.

Hazel also won the feature event, to hold on to his feat of having won the feature every time he has participated at Cape. So far this year Hazel has won 21 features at Cape, Marion and Murphysboro where he has driven. He also holds the track records at Marion and Murphysboro.

Teeth Care Important

Consistent care of their teeth is of marked benefit to the sight of human beings. Decayed or abscessed teeth often affect the eyes, and in extreme cases, may even cause blindness.

11,000 Attend Opening Races at Cahokia Downs

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—An estimated 11,000 racing fans attended the inaugural night of Cahokia Downs' 70-day meeting Tuesday night.

Baby's Delight, a 4-year-old black gelding, scored a popular victory in the five-and-a-half furlong feature race, a $2,500 handicap. Ridden by Elvin Coffman, Baby's Delight led all the way to refund $5.60, $3.40 and $2.80 across the board.

But the opening of the new three-quarter-mile oval did not proceed entirely according to form.

Horseplayers who watched the first three races followed by elaborate ceremonies including an American Legion display became impatient when the fourth race was delayed 12 minutes when a fuse blew out, knocking out the powerful arc lights covering the first turn and top of the backstretch.

Cries of "Let's get going" arose and horsemen, after a hasty conference with track officials, agreed to take a chance and ride through the blind spot.

There are 156 major fires burning out of control in the inactive coal deposits of the United States.

Bernstein Reports Outlook For Employment in Illinois In Coming Months is Good

CHICAGO (UP)—The outlook for employment in Illinois for the coming months "continues to look fairly good" according to Samuel C. Bernstein, commissioner of unemployment compensation.

Bernstein, in an interview here, said "construction should remain at a high tempo throughout the balance of the building season. Other non-manufacturing industries, excepting trade—which is at its seasonal low during the summer months—should also continue active."

"The outlook for manufacturing contains considerable uncertainty, particularly in the durable goods sector," he said. "However, the production of soft goods appears to be firming up. In addition, declining inventories at manufacturing and retail levels gives further encouragement," he added.

Non-Farm Jobs Drop

Labor Department statistics put total nonfarm employment as of June 3, 1954 at 2,964,700. This was a drop of 153,000 from the total of 3,118,100 on June 4, 1953, but close to the June, 1952 employment total of 2,959,100.

Insured unemployment in the state was up substantially in July, 1954 as compared to the same month in 1953 and 1952. This was also true for the estimated unemployment total.

As of July 10, 1954 insured unemployment in the state amounted to 147,673 persons. The figure for the same period of 1953 was 53,297 and in 1952 80,968.

May Jobless Jump

An estimated 249,000 persons were unemployed in Illinois in May, 1954. This was about the same as May of 1949, when the nation was going through a business readjustment, but considerably above the 1953 figure of 101,000 and 1952's 105,000.

The major 1954 employment gains in the state were experienced in the construction industry, finance, insurance and real estate business, and in certain service industries, Bernstein said.

Early in June, construction employment stood at 175,300 persons—some 2,000 over 1953 and 5,000 over 1952. An increase in highway building, Bernstein said, in addition to a steady residential and commercial building market made for this pleasant picture.

The employment gain in the other categories was largely based on a relaxed labor market, he said, which found employers able to expand their work forces to desired size.

Farm Outlook Bleak

Lower farm incomes and the large scale drought make the outlook for the agricultural equipment industry rather bleak, the commissioner said. Employment in this industry was 61,200 in May, 1954 as compared with 75,700 for the same month in 1953.

Employment in the communication equipment industry, which, Bernstein said, is extremely sensitive to economic conditions, was down 21,000 in May, 1954 as compared to May 1953.

The machine tool industry picture provides some encouragement, Bernstein said. Employment during May of this year was about the same as 1953, although the average work week was down about two hours.

Investment Rate Steady

He said this would indicate that industry was investing in capital goods at a steady rate, possibly based on a hopeful outlook on the part of business policy makers.

It would be impossible, Bernstein said, to make a firm prediction as to the state's business picture in the coming months. The usual indicators, he added, provide a mixed picture.

It can only be hoped, the commissioner said, that the strong trend in the construction field would stimulate both primary and secondary industries.

Mines Bureau Recommends Region Changes

WASHINGTON (UP)—Interior Secretary Douglas McKay has approved a Bureau of Mines report which recommends that the government stop producing helium.

Helium is the non-flammable gas which the late Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes refused, over presidential and other highly placed protests, to sell to Nazi Germany for use in its globe-girdling zeppelins.

The bureau of mines report recommended that the government's helium plants be sold or transferred to private industry.

The document compiled by a five-member survey team also recommended a program that will materially change the basic setup of the bureau.

Changes include the addition of a deputy director; a reduction in the number of regional offices; additional educational work in mine safety in order to eliminate necessity of federal mine inspection; termination of government production of zirconium and titanium; elimination of pilot plant work unless private industry pitches in and helps; and expansion of statistical information about solid liquid, and gaseous fuels.

Region Changes

The survey team began its work last Dec. 14. It delivered a 35-page report to McKay on May 20. The largest date for compliance with the survey team's recommendations is July 1, 1955.

In the reduction of regional offices, the activities of the bureau were divided geographically, following state lines insofar as possible.

Region two would consist of Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, North Da-

STREET ROD

As Ricky thanked the community for helping him prepare the car for exhibit, he saw Link standing at the edge of the crowd, looking superior and scornful. Ricky ignored the dark figure.

"Before I leave," Ricky continued, "I want you to see how this coupe will be exhibited."

He unwrapped a long cylindrical object he had been carrying, and held it up, letting it unroll in front of him. On gold letters, against a blue background (Sharon's idea and work), they read:

Shown by Ricky Madison (Delville Timing Association).

Ricky turned the sign from side to side, giving everyone a good look. Then he rolled it up and tossed it on the seat of the coupe.

There were a few last farewells. Handshakes and good wishes from the DTA guys, from his parents, and finally Sharon.

"I'm coming up on the bus tomorrow," she said, looking at him proudly. "And I'll ride back with you tomorrow evening—if you want me to."

"It's a date," Ricky said.

He climbed in the truck and looked out, smiling. His father and mother stood below him. They looked proud and happy. And he was proud of them. Proud of the way his father had worked beside him for weeks, and had the confidence to invest money in the project. Proud that his mother had understood, and hadn't minded their crazy schedule that upset the house.

"It wasn't an easy time," Mr. Madison said to Ricky's mother as he quipped at the retreating truck. "But he made it. He'll be all right now."

Arnie came up, puffing. "Good send-off, eh, Mr. Madison?"

"He really accomplished something, Arnie. We've been looking for the magic something. I guess this is it."

"Ya," Arnie said.

The truck moved ahead slowly, the farewells echoed in his ears. This was it. He turned to say something to the driver and blinked. He hadn't noticed before. It was Merle.

Merle was grinning cautiously at Ricky looked at him. "Hi sprout."

"Gee... Merle. I didn't notice it was you."

"You were pretty excited. Nice rod you built."

"Yeah. It's all right. I guess." He didn't want Merle to feel bad, after their failure together.

"You still planning to have your own shop some day?"

"You bet I am. But I guess I'll go to college first. There's a lot I have to learn."

"Uh-huh. Well, if you ever need somebody to run the place for you, and you ain't got anybody else in mind..."

"Did you see the nameplate on the coupe?"

"No. What'd you use?"

"Nothing outside," Ricky said, a half-achmed smile on his face. "But inside there's a little monogram that reads C-M."

"Well, I'll be doggoned," Merle said. "Does it mean what I think?"

"I didn't forget the help you gave me, or the plans we made," Ricky said. "Merle, the Connor-Madison is on its way to its first public showing."

Sharon arrived in Des Moines the following afternoon. She took a trolley-bus to the state fairgrounds, where the show was being held in one of the huge buildings.

The floor space was crowded with cars of every description. There were rods for show and rods that were built strictly for competition. There was everything from cars that sagged under the weight of chrome gadgets to stripped models that boasted little more than wheels, a seat, a steering wheel to go with the tremendous and beautiful power plant. There were rods of every size, shape, color and breed.

But it was easy to find Ricky. She headed toward the largest crowd, and sure enough, when she worked her way through, they were looking at the coupe.

The little car, like the others in the show, had been roped off to protect it from the over-curious and the souvenir hunters. Ricky stood just inside the roped area, talking to another boy and writing in a little pad he carried.

Sharon moved toward him, waiting until he was through talking to the other boy before she moved into his line of vision. The moment he saw her, Ricky's eyes shone.

"You made it," he said in a pleased tone, putting away the notebook.

"I said I would. Your coupe certainly is popular."

"You don't know the half of it. Let's get something to eat and I'll tell you all about it."

Ricky called to a boy near him who was showing a compact little roadster that had been stripped of fenders, channeled, and sported a heavily chromed engine with three carburetors. "Hey Swede... keep an eye on the coupe for me, will you? I'm going for chow."

The boy raised a hand and touched two fingers to his brow. "Will do, Ricky."

"Thanks."

Ricky took Sharon by the arm and steered her toward a lunch counter that had been set up. "What a time I've had here," Ricky said. "I'm dizzy."

"What from?"

Ricky took the notebook from his pocket as they sat at the counter. "Know what's in there?"

"How could I?"

"Names," Ricky said, his voice heavy with excitement. "Names of at least a dozen guys who want to buy the coupe. All I have to do is name a price. And off all the guys who've asked me to make designs for them! Sharon... I'm in business!"

Hell Drivers

ATOMIC CRISSCROSS LEAP

The sensational leap pictured here is the breath-taking climax to a 28 events Thrill Show presented by Jack Kochman's World Champion Hell Drivers who will appear at the Saline County Fair Monday, Aug. 2. Catapulting a speeding open car up a rampway and into space as if shot from a gun, this driver sail the auto high over another car passing directly underneath and lands upon a receiving ramp approximately 120 feet away. By far the most dangerous of Thrill Show Events, this one event has claimed the lives of eight daredevils in the past. Geo. Patton who makes this leap is the only driver using an open convertible car for the crisscross leap.
